Fact File

The Barn Owl may be found all over Australia, especially in open woodland and on plains. It may live around farms and in caves.

It is a medium-sized, pale-coloured owl, with a heart-shaped, white facial disc. The eyes are dark. The bill and long, bare legs are pale. The bird has white underparts, with grey-gold upper parts, and black and white spots on the wings.

The call is a rasping hiss, like cloth ripping.

Barn owls roost during the day in the hollows, foliage or caves. Pellets of food remains accumulate under roosts.

They hunt mice and other small mammals after dark, locating prey by sound and keen night vision. Numbers build up in mouse plagues, but afterwards many owls die.

The nest is a hollow or cave.

The female lays 3 - 7 white eggs for 13 - 15 days.

The male feeds the chicks.

They grow to a length of 300 - 400mm.
